Billions of pounds and the internet of things

EHealth Insider reports of Cisco and Intel reports and the more or less bright future of the Internet of Things:

Thomas Meek, 23 March 2015, IoT could generate £49b in UK healthcare, eHealth Insider, http://www.ehi.co.uk/news/EHI/9935/title

Interestingly the starting point for generating this large business is the need to save money : ""As pressure to maintain costs in our health systems increases and the available resources diminish, the ability to do more with less will only become more critical in the near future – a big opportunity for [IoT] start-ups to bring some much-needed new ideas."…

March 23rd, 2015 | Business, Value | 0 Comments