

In the coming weeks the new press regulator IPSO will unveil its board and officially launch. We can also expect an announcement about the Recognition Panel established under the Royal Charter to audit the new system of newspaper self-regulation. Those expecting to finally see the implementation of Leveson's reforms are likely to be disappointed, however, argues Damian Tambini.